11TH EXECUTIVE ASSISTANT NETWORK CONFERENCE

For the 11th consecutive year, Luna Park Sydney has hosted the 2017 Executive Assistant Network (EAN) Conference over the 15th and 16th of March. The most highly acclaimed forum for Executive Assistants and Personal Assistants in Australia, brought 175 delegates to experience the iconic venue situated on the Sydney Harbour.

Over the two days delegates were treated to a full entertainment, networking and fine dining schedule. This was provided by Luna Park Venues award-winning events and catering teams who arranged conferences, an exhibition and a gala dinner across two of the 13 different venues on offer.

EAN's Natasha Cannon said, "For over a decade we have been so incredibly grateful for the ongoing support provided by Luna Park Venues and its team. They are the ideal host for our annual conference with outstanding views, venues and, importantly, a team that take the lead, allowing us to focus on our members."

Sixty-six exhibitors from across Australia set up shop for the two days in Luna Park Venues Big Top, providing insight into the most relevant and up to date industry services; from event management, accommodation, media and branding, through to corporate tourism services and entertainment.

The gala dinner allowed delegates the chance to mingle and network while enjoying Luna Park's world-class catering and Sydney Harbour views from the Crystal Palace.
